

NEW BOOK BY NIGEL DAW

Regional Airlines of South Australia 1967 to 2017

The First Fifty Years

This book tells the stories of the fifty-eight regional airlines that have served the South Australian passenger market. Background is giving as to how this part of the industry started and where it is today. In the early days Piper PA31 and Cessna 402 were the aircraft of choice and now the airlines use DHC8 and SAAB 340B.

The book is supported by passenger and staff stories contained in 146 pages and all in colour. This is the first book of its type covering regional airlines and particularly in South Australia
